

IPHA Production Seminar 2016

Wim Jansze

Board of IPHA – Technical Committee

Why a production seminar ?

- IPHA promotes a dynamic and enriching exchange of information between its international members, encouraging dialogue and knowledge sharing to ensure they are up-to-date on technical matters related to the production of hollowcore slabs.
  - Yearly IPHA Conferences: top management and sales
  - Biennial Technical Seminar: design, engineering, R&D
  - What can we offer our production people?

Production is key in our business

- The seminar focusses on operations management.
- For success in operations management knowledge of technology, rational analysis and people skills are all required
- to ensure that operations are efficient in terms of using as few resources as needed, and effective in terms of meeting customer requirements.

Production is key in our business

Competitiveness indicators (J. Vörös):

- Price/cost
- Performance quality
- Conformance quality
- Volume flexibility
- Variety flexibility
- In time delivery
- Short leadtime
- Distribution system
- Promotion
- After sales service

Production is key in our business

Addressing the following themes:

1. Production Technology
2. Operations
3. Safety
4. Concrete
5. Quality

Whom should participate?

Your people responsible for hollowcore production:

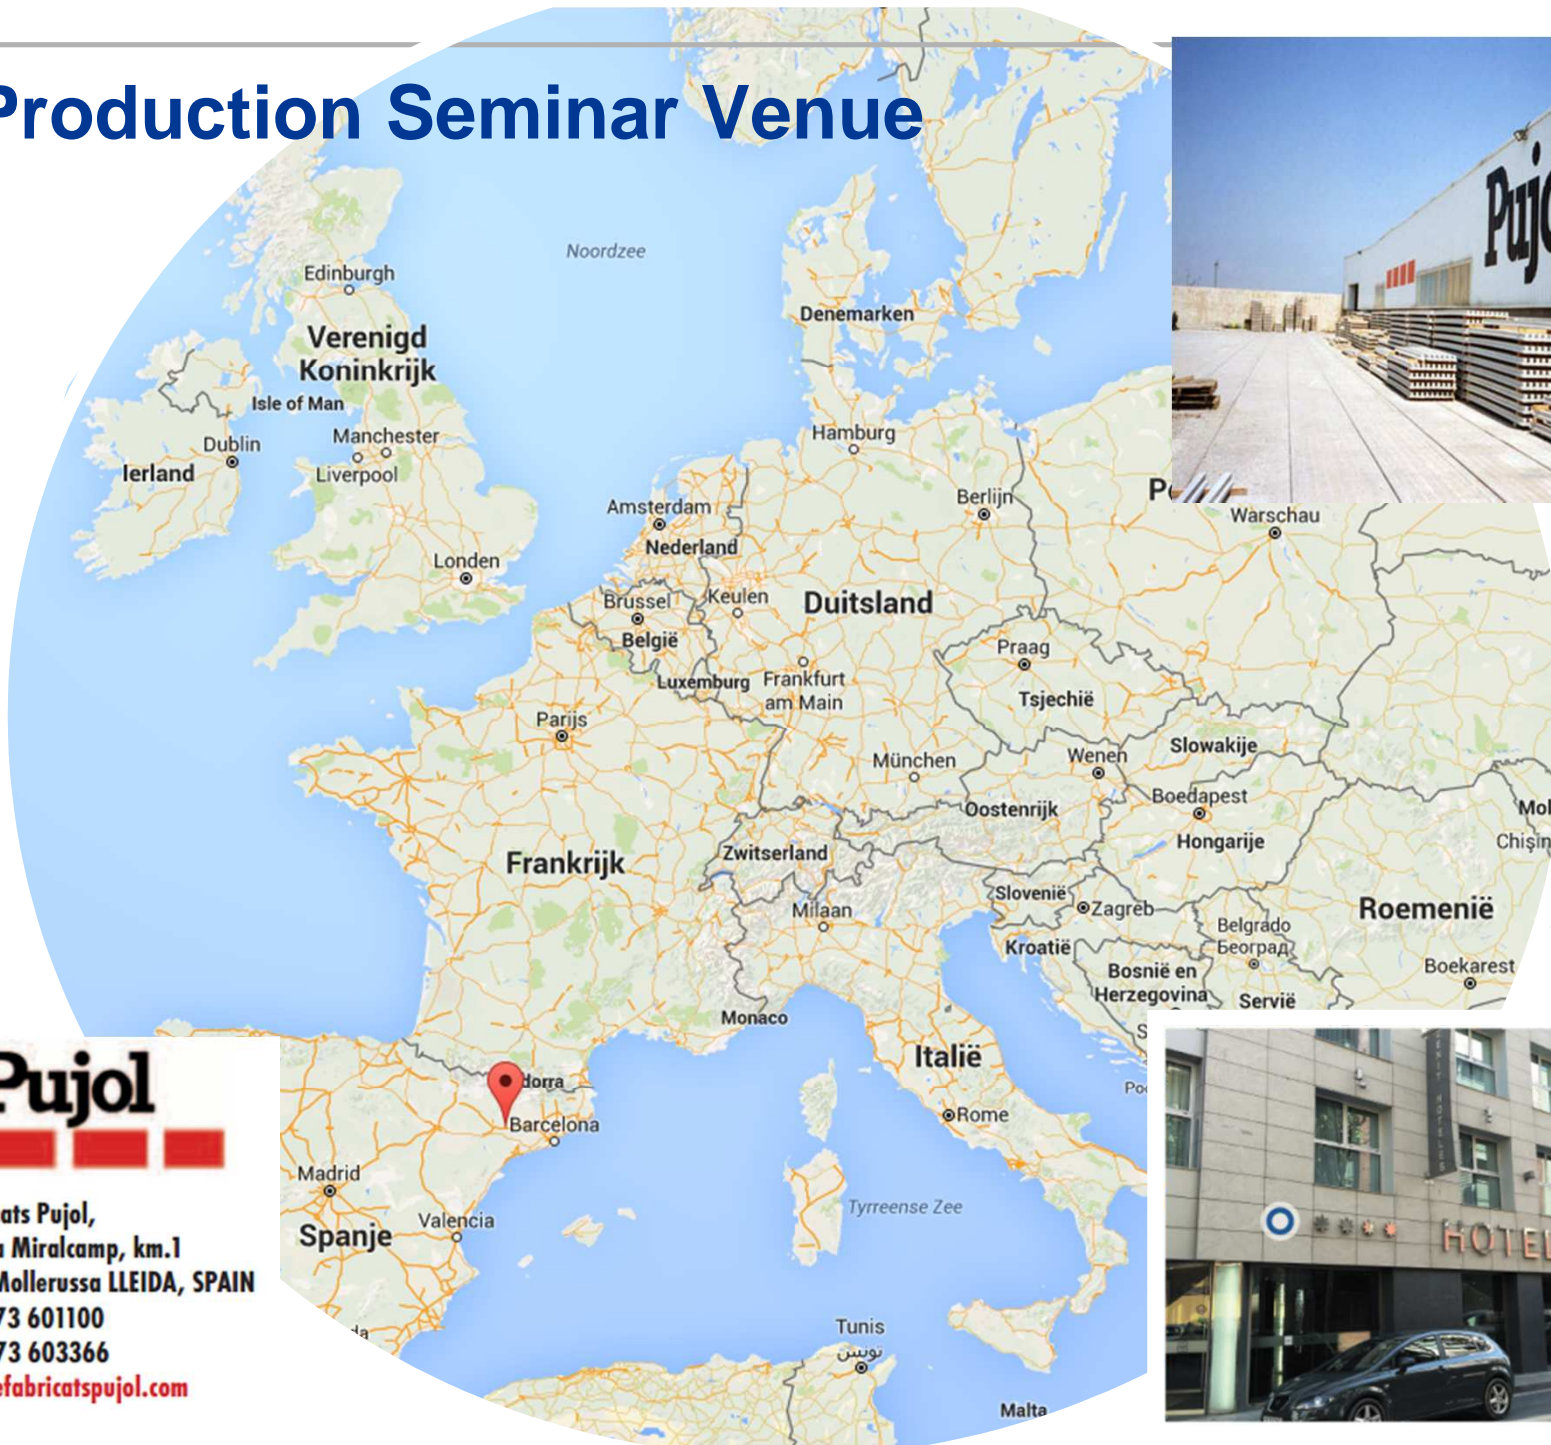

- Production directors
- Factory Managers
- Other senior personnel around production

Two big advantages of the IPHA Conference are that delegates can learn so much from a visit to the host company's factories and that they have quality time to network on new ideas and past experiences. This year, Generale Prefabbricati did not disappoint. Delegates had the opportunity to visit, not only a hollowcore factory, but also the associated precast factory of Edilbeton Perugia, producing glass reinforced cement cladding panels. Some overseas visitors enjoyed seeing the production of deep hollowcore slabs for the first time. There was general agreement amongst the delegates that the visits were most informative.
